Stonecrest, GA – The City of Stonecrest will host its first fall festival at the Browns Mill Recreation Center on Saturday, October 29 from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Stonecrest’s end-of-summer celebration will feature children’s activities, games, and entertainment.

The festival will include food, music, an arts and crafts station, a photo booth, face painters, and a bouncy house. Cotton candy and traditional candy will be handed out to attendees.

“The fall festival is another event bringing the community together, right here in Stonecrest,” said Ben Dillard, Director of Leisure Services. “We are always proud to offer activities and programs that display the talents of our residents while creating a local hub for education, entertainment and the arts.”
